

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Santa Filomena.
When'er a noble deed is wrought,
When'er is spoken a noble thought,
Our hearts, in glad surprise,
To higher levels rise.

The tidal wave of deeper souls
Into our inmost being rolls,
And lifts us unawares
Out of all meaner cares.

Honor to those whose words or deeds
Thus help us in our daily needs,
And by their overflow
Raise us from this lowly level.

Thus thought I, as by night I read
Of the great army of the dead,
The trenches cold and damp,
The starved and frozen camp.

The wounded from the battle plain,
In dreary hospitals of pain,
The cheerless corridors,
The cold and stony floors.

Lo! in that house of misery
A Lady with a Lamp I see,
Pass through the glimmering gloom,
And flit from room to room.

And slow, as in a dream of bliss,
The speechless sufferer turns to kiss
Her shadow, as it falls
Upon the darkening wall.

As if a door in heaven should be
Opened and then closed suddenly,
The vision came and went,
The light shone and was spent.

On England's annals, through the long
Hereafter of her speech and song,
That light it rays shall cast
From portals of the past.

A Lady with a Lamp shall stand
In the great history of the land,
A noble type of good,
Heroic womanhood.

Nor even shall be wanting here
The palm, the lily, and the spear,
The symbols that of yore
Saint Filomena bore.

Hawkins—Horner.

A quiet home marriage took place yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Martha Alice Horner, No. 19 South Adams Street, when her daughter, Miss Ethel Clair Horner, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Chapman Hawkins, Jr. The Rev. B. H. Melton, of Marshall Street Christian Church, performed the ceremony.

Tasteful decorations were in palms and white cut flowers. Miss Mary Pickett Horner had charge of the music, playing Mendelssohn's wedding march as the processional.

Miss Virginia Mayden Horner was maid of honor, and wore pink organdy. Miss Clara Akers Horner, of Lynchburg, was bridesmaid. Her gown was of white mull, with white ribbons. Both young ladies carried asparagus fern.

Mr. Robert H. Horner, of Norfolk, attended the groom as best man, and the groomsmen were Messrs. Samuel Paul Townsend, of Philadelphia, and Eugene Hudson Gilman, of this city.

The bride's costume was a stylish traveling suit of dark blue, and her flowers were white roses.

Friend After Friend Departs.

By JAMES MONTGOMERY.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

Friend after friend departs;
Who hath not lost a friend?
There is no union here of hearts
That finds not here an end:
Were this frail world our final rest,
Living or dying, none were blest.

Beyond this flight of time—
Beyond the reign of death—
There surely is some blessed clime
Where life is not a breath;
Nor life's affections transient fire,
Whose sparks fly upward and expire.

There is a world above
Where parting is unknown:
A long eternity of love,
Formed for the good alone;
And faith beholds the dying, here,
Translated to that glorious sphere!

Thus star by star declines,
Till all are past away,
As morning high and higher shines,
To pure and perfect day;
Nor sink those stars in empty night,
But hide themselves in heaven's own light.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, Oct. 11, 1903. One is published each day.

May second, a beautiful silver service, consisting of pitcher, waiter and goblet, was retained by the ladies of the Baptist Church Sunday and will be used at a later date. The service was given by Mr. J. T. Allen, the Main Street jeweler and was left, at the close of the carnival, in possession of Mrs. C. E. Wingo, chairman of the Baptist table.

Yesterday it was announced that the three pieces of silver had been won by Mrs. C. C. Walker, the method of determining the winner being unusual. A jar was filled with beans and the service was to go to the lady whose name came at the number was nearest correct. Mrs. Walker's guess was 7,777, it being found, when the beans were counted, that the jar contained 7,788.

PHARMACY BOARD TO DO ITS PART

Secretary Miller Says His Body Takes Cognizance of Complaint.

DRUG CLERK'S STATEMENT

The Report Was First Made to Chief Werner, and Then to Commonwealth's Attorney.

The Board of Pharmacy will give to the Commonwealth's Attorney all possible assistance in the prosecution of the cases against several druggists for allowing unregistered clerks to compound prescriptions.

Mr. T. A. Miller, Secretary of the Board, said yesterday that the board had been placed in rather a bad light by the statement that the law forbade the Commonwealth's Attorney from acting without the board's consent.

"We are always ready to prosecute any violation of the law, and at the same time more than one hundred and sixty cases in the Valley or Virginia, where poisons were sold indiscriminately."

Mr. Miller could not speak for the entire board, but said that he believed that if it was shown that the charges now pending against the druggists were correct that the board would sanction the action of the Commonwealth's Attorney.

The Drug Clerk's Association did not inform the board of this matter and was known of it first when it came to the public notice through the courts. We would have taken it up had we known of it," declared Mr. Miller.

Mr. E. C. Farwell, President of the State Association of Registered Drug and Assistant Drug Clerks, said yesterday that the Association had no ill will against the Board of Pharmacy. The Association, he said, had thought it right and proper to report the matter to the chief-of-police and leave it there.

Action of Drug Clerks.

Mr. Farley, Secretary of the Clerks' Association, some time ago sent out this circular to all druggists in the city:

Dear Sir,—No doubt you will be interested in the movement recently inaugurated by the Virginia Association of Registered Drug Clerks to correct certain existing evils relative to the practice of pharmacy in Virginia.

For some time it has been an open secret that there are in the State today many who are not registered themselves, nor employing for their assistants registered pharmacists, as required by law. Such men have no right, legal or moral, to pose as pharmacists, or to be your competitors in business. The legitimate druggist's interests and the registered clerk's interests are mutual.

This association has reasons to believe that law-abiding druggists throughout the State will uphold it in its endeavor to prosecute and bring to justice all violators of the law. To prosecute to the full extent of law is what this association proposes to do, and all law-abiding druggists are earnestly requested to lend a helping hand.

Courts for a higher standard of pharmacy in Virginia.

(Signed) VIRGINIA ASSOCIATION OF REGISTERED DRUG CLERKS.

Action of Authorities.

When Chief of Police Werner received the information that unregistered clerks were filling prescriptions, he had a consultation with Commonwealth's Attorney Folkes, with the result that if there were any clerks who had not passed an examination and who were compounding prescriptions. The cases in Police Court Tuesday morning showed that the young man had been at work. But the question was then raised that unless the Board of Pharmacy became the complainant or informant, the court could do nothing in the case. A postponement was ordered until September, and at this time the board will appear through its officers and take a hand. The board will be the informant in all probability.
